February 2007 Shevat-Adar 5767 שבט-אדר תשס"ז

The Holy Shabbat Acrylics by Michael Muchnik

Shevat 15
New Year for trees, when trees begin to bud in Israel. It is customary to eat many fruits, especially those for which the land of Israel is praised in Scriptures.

Shevat 22
Yahrtzeit of Rebbetzin Chaya Muska Schneerson, wife of the Lubavitcher Rebbe, Rabbi Menachem Schneerson.

Kosher Food
Food for the Soul
Just as there are foods that are good for the body and foods that are harmful, so there are foods that nourish the inner person—the soul—and foods that harm it.

The Kosher Laws are Torah's guide to those foods that affect the Jewish soul adversely. Any meat or fowl that is eaten must be slaughtered in a prescribed, humane fashion. Meat and milk must never mix. Scavengers, predatory beasts and fish, shellfish and certain other animals are forbidden. Any processed foods must be produced under strict supervision.

Eating is Sacred
When they talk about spirituality, people think about meditation, prayer and maybe music. Few imagine eating as a spiritual activity. But according to the Torah, everything a person does is another way to infuse the world with spiritual meaning. Especially eating. When a person eats food with the proper mindfulness and uses the energy of that food for good things, the food becomes elevated through his eating.

That's another reason for Kosher guidelines. Kosher foods are those that a Jewish soul is able to elevate. Non-kosher foods are those that will only drag the soul down. When enough people are busy elevating the world rather than being dragged down by it, the world is able to reach its fulfillment, the time described by the prophets as the Era of Moshiach.

It's Never Been Easier To Keep Kosher
Seventy percent of the packaged foods in your cupboard are probably kosher already. Kosher foods are the fastest growing segment of the food industry. Going the full mile can be a smooth, step-by-step process—each step a mitzvah all on its own:

Don't mix meat and milk.
Cut out pork, shellfish and non-kosher fish.
Buy only kosher meat.
Buy only those processed foods that have kosher certification.
Make your kitchen kosher.
